A full-overlay hinge is a type of cabinet hinge that is designed to cover the entire face of the cabinet and door. This type of hinge is commonly used with full-overlay cabinet doors, which are doors that cover the entire front of the cabinet. Full-overlay hinges are available for both framed and frameless cabinet styles.

Sagging door: If the cabinet door is drooping or not aligned with the other doors, it indicates a hinge problem. Loose screws: Check if the screws on the hinge are loose or missing. Loose screws can cause the door to wobble or come off entirely.
